

RESPECTUCF

BE YOURSELF,
Together

BE YOU STORYTELLING PROJECT

*My Passion for Culturally Competent
Social Work Practice*

with Dr. Olga Molina

November 15, 2017

2p.m. - 3p.m.

Teaching Academy 130

Cuban-born Dr. Olga Molina will be discussing her experiences as a Latina immigrant and her passion for culturally competent social work practice.

Dr. Olga Molina is an associate professor of social work at the University of Central Florida. She teaches courses on social work practice, clinical practice with families, clinical practice with groups and culturally competent social work practice in both the undergraduate and graduate programs. She received the M.S.W. from New York University and the D.S.W. from Hunter College of the City University of New York. Dr. Molina has over thirty years' professional practice experience in the field of social work.

Professor Molina's service within the professional community includes serving on the national Council on Social Work Education's (CSWE) Council on Racial and Ethnic Cultural Diversity, the Florida National Association of Social Work's (NASW) Diversity Task Force and the Board of Directors of the International Association for Social Work with Groups. Dr. Molina is the recipient of the NASW's Educator of the Year award.

Our stories highlight our diversity and our shared humanity...join us for cookies and conversation with Dr. Molina.

UCF

Office of Diversity and Inclusion

UNIVERSITY OF CENTRAL FLORIDA

 (407) 823-6479  diverse@ucf.edu  <http://diversity.ucf.edu>  facebook.com/UCF.ODI